

MEXICO

COPA AMERICA 2024 - USA

Mexico is the non CONMEBOL team with the longest history in the CONMEBOL Copa America, appearing in 11 editions of the tournament. They have made two finals in their history at the Copa America one in their debut in 1993, and one against Colombia in 2001. They are the only country from a different federation to do so. After a recent spell of losses Mexico is looking to prove themselves once again and show that they can compete in these major international tournaments.

PREDICTION:

Mexico has a relatively easy group to handle in this Copa America drawing against Ecuador, Venezuela, and Jamaica. But let's not forget what happened in Qatar 2022, so Ecuador and Venezuela have a decent chance of upsetting Mexico. They are predicted to advance to the knockout-stage top of the group. Mexico's fans will surely help them out this summer, having the biggest fan base at the Copa America, Mexico can rely on their 12th man to help them out. (+1400 odds)
